HIGH-TONED? PERHAPS!
BUT NOT HIGH-PRICED

● All right, we'll admit it. There's "something" about our establishment — a professional "atmosphere," if you will—that marks it as a Prescription Pharmacy. We're rather proud of that "air"—and of the high ethical standards and skilled professional service. But, we don't charge for the "atmosphere"! Costs no more to have a prescription compounded here. Bring in your next one, and see!

YOU AND THE RED CROSS

There are two theories about the individual's responsibility toward others. One holds that it's "each man for himself and the devil take the hindmost," while the other believes that each of us is "his brother's keeper," that no man can stand alone and that through cooperation and mercy all profit in the long run.

The American Red Cross is tangible evidence of a widespread faith in the latter theory. Now, during March, it is asking for a declaration from each of us. Daly City, like other communities throughout the land, is asked to double its contribution this year. We've a quota of $8,000, which means, frankly, that response will have to be generous, not the smallest possible donation that will "save face."

When a Red Cross volunteer calls at your home, be ready with a welcome word and the very best donation you can muster for the work of this humanitarian organization. You cannot take life-giving plasma to the wounded soldier on some far beachhead; you cannot solve the personal problems of a lonely lad in the Aleutians; you cannot send aid to a prisoner of war; you, personally, cannot hand food to the starving—but the Red Cross can do these things—if you help.

The success of this War Fund drive is the responsibility of each of us in Daly City. Do have the satisfaction of knowing that you were not niggardly in the face of great need!

"ONE NATION, INDIVISIBLE . . ."

Americans are a daring people—politically as well as in other ways.

We are the only nation to hold a national election right in the midst of a crucial war. We succeeded in doing it in 1864. We shall succeed again in 1944.

But to do this is not an easy task even for a people as flexible as we. We know that as enthusiasm and excitement start to rise in a presidential campaign, our tempers tend to rise too. This does not mean that we should be apathetic or hesitant to speak our minds. But we should avoid abusiveness and bitterness.

So vital is the coming election to our post-war future and to the happiness of the nation, that we should keep in mind the principles even more than the personalities involved in the campaign. We shall need to be guided by clear thinking—not by muddled emotion.

We must encourage straightforward, candid criticism; we must discourage the hatred that creates national disunity. As one leader realistically warned recently, "We are living in a world where class is set against class and race against race. I know of no natural law which will prevent these conflicts from becoming rooted and deep rooted in our own soil unless we forge today, now and in our daily lives, the unity which must be reforged each generation if a nation is to survive and to be great."

The presidential campaign may divide us politically, but here is a great opportunity to prove that underneath it all we stand as "One Nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

BARUCH REPORT

Bernard Baruch has made another significant contribution to the nation in his report on national war and post-war adjustment policies. His approach to the problems that now face and will face the nation is clear and sensible. He points out that it is as necessary in time of war to prepare for peace as it is to make war preparations in peace times.

Highlighting Baruch's report is his recommendation that the government get out of business and stay out as soon as the war is over.

Among other points he also urges an immediate start in disposing of supplies from the vast reserve store that can be spared now without harming the war effort; the preparation of a post-war tax program now so that businessmen can plan accordingly; the speedy termination of war contracts and quick payment to contractors to prevent delay in the return to peace production.

When the war is over—and even before—Uncle Sam will begin selling one of the greatest accumulations of goods in history. Baruch recommends that these goods be sold through the "regular channels of trade" so far as practicable and no sales be made to speculators or promoters.

This recommendation should be followed. Our established retail outlets are well equipped to handle these supplies. Furthermore, the indiscriminate "dumping" of surpluses on the market through "army and navy stores" would serve to disrupt the normal trade channels and adversely affect our industrial post-war recovery.

Baruch believes that we need not experience depression after the war but that we can enjoy "an adventure in prosperity," if we streamline our reconversion processes so as to make the change-over to peace production in the shortest time possible. He has given us a sound plan for doing this very thing.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

SOMETIME before the publication of "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep," by Ludwig Bemelmans, we asked the author what his novel was about. "Well," he said, "it's not written exactly to formula. The hero is an eighty-year-old South American general subject to epileptic fits, and the heroine is an English woman of sixty-five who carries her coffin with her wherever she goes."

LUDWIG BEMELMANS

To say that "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep" is not written to formula is putting it mildly. This latest Book-of-the-Month Club offering differs from the typical girl-meets-boy type of fiction as a black orchid from a dandelion. Those who read it for simple entertainment will find it often hilarious. And those who read it for its underlying satire and philosophic content will find much to ponder.

The story tells of General Leonidas Erosa, whose fortune comes from vast properties in South America that he has never bothered to look over, and who up until the time of the war lives in opulent luxury in Biarritz. He is finally made aware of the changing world when he discovers it is no longer possible for him to procure his favorite kind of paté de fois gras, which has always been sent him airmail from Czechoslovakia. When the General is told he must be satisfied with the inferior grade from Strasbourg, he realizes it is time for him to go.

So, with his most prized possessions, which include sixteen carpets, over a thousand cigars, and thirty-two cases of champagne, the General sets sail for New York. Among his vast entourage of servants and companions is Anselmo, the Indian, who cares for his three Great Danes, and who has a secret dream, never to be realized, of murdering his master. Then there is Miss Graves, the Englishwoman, whom the General has saved from drowning but who is still so obsessed with the subject of death that she will go nowhere without her coffin. And there is Monsieur Vitasse, the French chef, whose temper is unpredictable, but whose souffle d'écrevisses is invariably superb. And there is also Madame Lopez, the Spanish beauty.

Enough of Mr. Bemelmans' story. After all, you may want to read it yourself, and what's the fun if you know everything beforehand?

Robert Casadesus To Play, March 13

Robert Casadesus, famous French pianist who comes to the Opera House Monday evening, March 13, under the local management of the Opera association, has been referred to "as complete a musician as he is a pianist." He is likewise a distinguished composer and a member of a French family that is noted in the music world of France.

Today, Casadesus is a name of renown in the country of his adoption. He made his debut here in 1935 and besides his own concert tour throughout the country, he has appeared as a guest soloist with all of the leading symphony orchestras. He has the rare record of having served as soloist with the New York Philharmonic orchestra seven consecutive seasons.

As a composer, he is best known perhaps for his Double Concerto for two pianos and orchestra which, with himself and his wife Gaby as soloists, he recently performed with both the Cincinnati Symphony and the Rochester Philharmonic orchestras.

At present, Casadesus lives in an old Revolutionary stone house in Princeton, New Jersey. In colonial days it was a tavern. It is filled with antiques of early American days. Here, with his wife and three children, all of whom are musical, they lead an ideal family life in which music is the common interest.

Tickets for the concert are now on sale at the Opera Box office, Normandy lane, City of Paris, EXbrook 8585.

Winning Style

UNAFFECTED ECONOMY of material and affluence of flattering detail distinguish the black jersey hostess slacks modeled by CBS singer Phyllis ("Radio Reader's Digest"). Creore. The white-stitched slanted closing, adjustable waistband, and slim-hipped, leg-tapered line authenticate the creative skill of Claire McCardell, winner of the Fashion Critics' award to America's foremost interpreter of fashion trends under wartime economy. (From The Clothes-Horse, Inc., New York.)

BUBBLE-DANCER — is U. S. war slang describing a dish washer. Even a dish washer has wartime duties. Yours is to work and buy more War Bonds in the 3rd War Loan.

"Date Conscious"? You'd Better Be--

Here is a list of those ration dates, which make calendar-watchers of all local housewives, motorists, or, in fact, anyone who wishes to eat, drive his car, or buy an occasional pair of shoes.

October 31—shoe stamp 18 (in War Ration Book One) was to have expired but OPA extends expiration date until April 30, 1944.

November 1—Book Three "airplane" series stamp No. 1 became valid; good for one pair of shoes until further notice.

January 16—sugar stamp No. 30 in War Ration Book Four became valid and will be good for buying 5 pounds of sugar through the end of March.

January 22—A gasoline coupons became valid, good through March 21.

February 1—green stamps K, L, M, good for purchase of processed foods became valid, will be good through March 20 (Book Four).

February 18, 1944—brown stamps Y became valid to use in purchase of meats, etc. (Book Three).

February 20, 1944—brown stamps Z became valid (Book Three).

February 27—began use of red and blue rationing tokens for change.

February 27 — blue stamps A8, B8, C8, D8, E8 (Book Four) to be used with ration tokens came into use for processed foods.

February 27 — red stamps, A8, B8, C8 (10 point value each) in Book Four became valid, good through May 20 for meats, fats, cheese, butter.

March 12—red stamps D8, E8, F8 (Book Four) become valid for purchase of meats, oils and fats.

March 15—deadline for filing income tax returns; earlier filing is desirable.

March 20, 1944—brown stamps Y and Z (Book Three) expire.

March 20—green stamps K, L, M, Book Four, for processed foods, expire.

March 21—gasoline coupons A No. 10 expire.

March 22—"A" gasoline coupons No. 11 become valid.

March 31, 1944 — deadline for inspection of tires for A book holders.

March 31—sugar stamp No. 30 for 5 pounds of sugar expires March 31.

April 1—blue stamps F8, G8, H8, J8, K8 become valid for purchase of processed foods; good until June 20.

April 30—stamp 18, Ration Book One, for one pair of shoes, expires.

May 1—another ration stamp will become valid for purchase of one pair of shoes.

May 20—blue stamps A8, B8, C8, D8, E8 for processed foods (Book Four) expire.

May 20—red stamps A8, B8, C8, D8, E8, F8 for meats, oils and fats (Book Four) expire.

May 31—tire inspection deadline for B and C coupon holders.

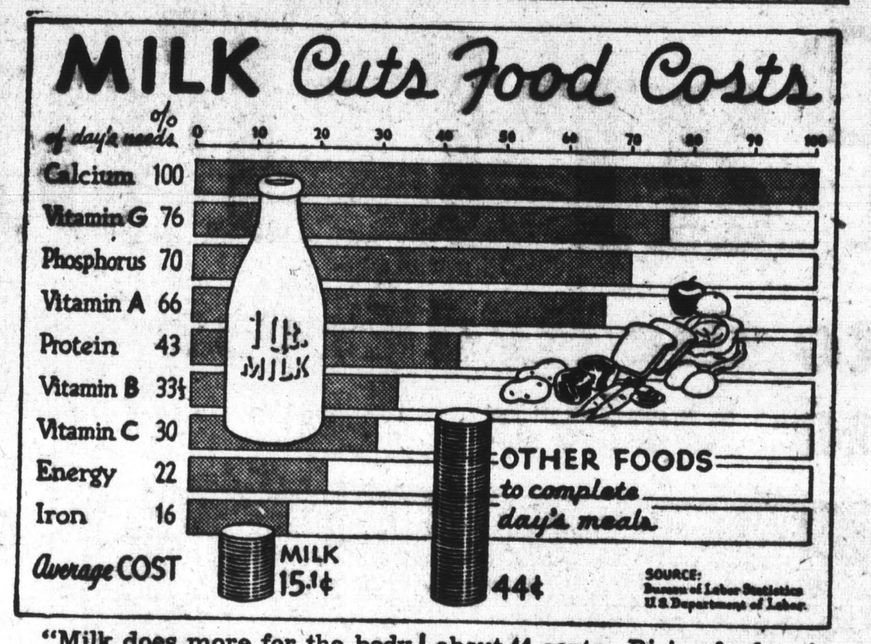
June 20—blue stamps F8, G8, H8, J8, K8 for processed foods (Book Four) expire.

BROWN POINTS FOR WASTE FATS

For every pound of fat a housewife turns in to her meat dealer or other fat salvager, she receives two meat points. "But most important," Herbert M. Faust, director of WPB's Salvage division said, "within a month the fat will be transformed into war materials and on the way to the fighting fronts." He reminded housewives to save the grease from turkeys, geese, ducks, and chickens, for the manufacture of war products.

CANNING SUGAR NOW AVAILABLE

Housewives may now get 5 pounds of canning sugar by using Stamp No. 40 in War Ration Book Four, OPA has announced, and additional canning sugar later will be available on application to local boards. Stamp No. 40 will be good 13 months, through February 28, 1945.



"Milk does more for the body than any other food and does it more cheaply." That statement by the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture is forcefully illustrated in this National Dairy Council chart showing the high percentage of each of the daily food elements which are provided by a quart of milk and the other foods necessary to complete daily dietary requirements.

The average cost of a quart of milk delivered to the home in the United States is 15.1 cents. The average cost of other foods needed to complete an economical diet and provide the balance of the nutrients needed daily is about 44 cents. Rising food costs together with the necessity of maintaining the best possible wartime diets are now giving added emphasis to the economy of milk.

The foods making up the meals used as a basis for this chart are as follows: Breakfast: fruit, whole-grain cereal with milk and sugar, whole-wheat toast with butter, milk, and coffee with cream and sugar. Lunch: macaroni with tomato sauce, whole-wheat bread with butter, fresh apple, oatmeal cookies and milk. Dinner: meat stew with vegetables, cole slaw, whole-wheat bread with butter and jam, coffee with cream and sugar, junket and milk.
